

CNCT Directory – Current As of May 11, 2012

The Certified Nerve Conduction Technologist (CNCT) credential is awarded to individuals who have achieved specialized knowledge, skills, and training in conducting nerve conduction studies.

- CNCT – Indicates the technologist has passed the CNCT certification examination. These individuals must participate fully in the Technologist Maintenance of Certification Program (TMOCP) to extend their certification beyond the initial 5-year certification cycle.
- CNCT - Indicates the technologist has been awarded the CNCT credentials through the ABEM's grandfathering program. These individuals must participate in the Continuing Education Unit (CEUs) portion of the TMOCP in order to maintain their credentials. These technologists are not required to take the TMOCP maintenance examination.
- CNCT† - Indicates the technologist is grandfathered, but must pass the CNCT certification examination by December 31, 2013 and fully participate in the TMOCP to maintain their certification.
