Note: All Diplomates who enroll in the MOCP after April 30, 2009, and all Diplomates who passed the certification examination in 2009 or after are required to report 150 Category 1 CME credits during the 10-year certification cycle. Diplomates who are currently enrolled in the MOCP will only need to record 50 Category 1 CME during this 10-year cycle. Following successfully passing the MOCP examination, 150 Category 1 CME credits will be required for the subsequent 10-year cycles. Diplomates must file a CME Declaration and Reporting Form each year for the 10-year period beginning the year after passing the MOCP examination. The AANEM offers a number of online CME opportunities to meet the Category I requirements at <http://www.aanem.org/education/cmeonline.cfm>

Holders of ABEM Certificate of Recognition need to document evidence of formal education. This does not need to be AMA Category I CME. Formal education hours can be earned outside the United States.*
